Dear Senator Javits:

When I testified to the Foreign Relations Committee on Iran you asked whether it would be useful for the Joint Economic Committee to initiate the preparation of a volume of studies on the Iran economy. I promised to give you a reaction promptly.

We have discussed it here and have concluded that it would be very useful if the Joint Economic Committee did take such an initiative. I will be glad to send you our suggestions for possible topics and what we would be able to contribute if desired.

With best regards,

Robert R. Bowie
